

Workload Description

Since we were not able to implement starvation in our scheduler and kernel panic is happening for the other major workloads, we are able to show workload only for a single long process.

Single long process

This workload shows how a single long running process will have priority downgraded by scheduler from priority 0 upto priority 3.

We have used queues for maintaining jobs at a particular priority level.